SALOON LICENSES UP TO SUPERVISORS

Question of Wet or Dry at Menlo Park Worries County Supervisors.

WANT HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Many Tax Payers of County Petition Board to Prepare for Permanent Road Improvement.

The regular session of the board of Supervisors last Monday, which opened with all the Supervisors except Coleman present, though present at its commencement, proved one of the most interesting of many months the most interesting feature being the final definite presentation of the question as to whether the board should take the initial step in the long pending question as to whether the saloon keepers of Menlo Park should go out of business under the mandate of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within the mile and a half of the Stanford University of whether the question should first be settled in the courts under the guise of a criminal prosecution.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous session of the board, the following reports of the County Officers were read by Clerk Nash and ordered placed on file.

COUNTY FARM AND HOSPITAL.

Report for quarter ending September 30, 1909: Inmates on roll June 30, 1909—Males 28, females 2; total 30. Admitted since—Males 20, females 1; total 21. Discharged—Males 10, females 1; total 11. Died—Males 1. On roll September 30, 1909—Males 37, females 2; total 39. Have approved bills for maintenance of farm amounting to $2786 86; have received cash to the amount of $125 35 for hay, $20 for spring wagon, $3.45 for sacks and $6 for board of teacher, $5 for effects of P. McIntyre, deceased, $16 from M. Fernandez, an inmate.

J. F. FORD,
Superintendent of the County Farm and Hospital.

HEALTH OFFICER.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County: I herewith submit my report as health officer for the county for the month of September, 1909. The health of the county has been very good; have had a few cases of scarlet fever in the north end of the county and two cases of diphtheria at Menlo Park, all of which have been properly attended to. I have abated several nuisances. I have issued 566 burial permits and 8 removal permits, reciving for same $585, all of which has been turned over to the County Treasurer, as per Auditor's receipt attached.

Carlos Rodriguez, a resident of Pescadero, and Peter Quirk, of Redwood City presented written applications for aid from the Indigent Fund, representing that by reason of infirmities they were unable to earn a livelihood. On motion of Supervisor Blackburn each was granted assistance to the extent of $8 per month.

Licenses for the sale of liquors were granted as follows:

First township—(Class A) E. Michelli, Christina Ettlin, Chas. J. Cody, John Mangini, McGinley & Wurthrick, John J. Welch; (Class B) Katie Sullivan, Mary Ann McMahon, Peter Brown.

Third township—(Class A) H. E. Hallett; (Class B) Nueman Bros.

Fourth township—(Class A) J. Debenedetti, Sarcander and Maynard.

Fifth township—(Class A) Frank Bell, Antone Bennett.

The following liquor dealers gave notice of intention to apply for licenses a month hence:

First township—(Class A) F. A. Smack, W. R. Markt.

Third township—(Class A) Charles Meyer.

Fourth township—(Class A) Thomas F. Quinlan.

The applications of Geo. K. Panagiotaros and Enrico Biggio of the First township were laid over indefinitely on motion of Blackburn, seconded by Casey.

So far all had gone along quitely, with nothing to explain the more than usuall y crowded condition of the benches set apart for the accommodation of the interested public, but when the application of J. A. Carleton for a liquor license at Menlo Park was reached, the presence of the unusual audience of spectators was easily made apparent. Following the presentation of this application a protest against its granting was read from a number of residents of Menlo Park and official of the University reciting that the recent session of the Legislature had enacted a law prohibiting the sale of liquor within one and one-half miles of any school or college having an enrollment of 1000 students of whom 500 reside on the campus, and that Menlo Park came within the prescribed limits of Stanford University.

On behalf of the protestants, attorney Geo. Ross addressed the board insisting that the sale of liquor in the vicinity of a large institution of learning was a detriment to the youth of the country, and urging that the Supervisors uphold the law which had been passed for the especial protection of this institution. He insisted that the protest indicated on its face that the place of business of the applicant was within the legal limit of one and one-half miles of the University and that it was the primary duty of the Board to uphold the law, by refusing to grant a license to this applicant or any other person under similar circumstances.

Mr. Ross was followed by Mr. E. W. Hopkins, who also urged the board to take this stand. Mr. Hopkins stated that the protest had been signed by a number of the residents of Menlo Park largely with a view of securing a test of the law, which he believed could best be done in this manner, without the necessity of incurring acrimonious feeling. There are now several saloons operating in Menlo Park, and in face of this law he considered this a wrong. In this connection he took occasion to read the men engaged in the saloon business a quiet and forceful little lecture. He urged that matters such as that at present under consideration be not treated in such a manner as to foster a general feeling to incite the movement in favor of State prohibition and force the liquor question to the front. Personally he did not favor the idea of state-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic, but he feared that opposition to reasonable regulation would lead to this result, which he believed to be essentially wrong.

Charles Meyers, who stated that he was engaged in the saloon business at Menlo Park and that he was prepared to represent the sentiments of th saloon men of that place, urged that the method proposed in the protest was wrong. If the statute was a constitutional one and if the saloon men of Menlo Park were violating its provisions they were ready to go out of business. But they were not satisfied upon this point, and insisted that they were not ameanable to this law .He believed that the Act of the Legislature was not sufficiently explicit, that the limits were not sufficiently defined. In his opinion the quickest and most certain method of testing the law was to cause the arrest of one of those operating under a license and thus take the matter immediately before the courts. Attorney Ross here interjected a remark that the protestants did not desire to take this course as they desired to avoid contentions among neighbors but rather wished a friend ly settlement of the controvrery, while the suggested criminal proceedings would entail hardships upon the saloon men which it was desired to avoid. To this Mr. Meyers replied that he was ready to be arrested upon such complaint at any time and would not consider his arrest a hardship.

C. N. Felton urged the Board to actupon the law as it was found upon the statute books, which they must consider good until otherwise decided by the courts. If the proper tribunals decide that the town is not within the prescribed limits of that the law was not otherwise operative he believed the protestants the proper course to pursue was that the board should reject this application and that the saloon men should test the law by mandamus proceedings.

Professor Clark of the University, said that there were 700 students residing on the college campus. He stated that the campus includes all of what is known as the Palo Alto farm and extends on the north to San Francisquito creek. The word "Campus" means not only the grounds on which the university buildings stand but the surrounding grounds. One and one-half miles from the creek would bring the saloon limit as far north as Fair Oaks.

Surveyor Neuman was sworn and identified a map prepared in his office of the affected territory. He testified that the most northerly saloon in Menlo Park was 6641 feet from the university entrance, 7864 feet from the museum building and about 3500 feet from the San Francusquito creek.

Timothy Hopkins, one of the University trustees, testified that it was the intention to turn all of the buildings including the residences on the Stanford property into educational uses. There was no question in his mind that the campus extended to the creek.

District Attorney Bullock, who had conducted the questioning of Prof. Clark and Surveyor Neuman, advised the board to reject the application of Carleton, stating that under the law the board had no right orauthority to grant a license for a saloon to him or any other person at Menlo Park, and that he had previously advised along the same lines and that their licenses had been granted against his advice.

At this point Chairman McEvoy inquired if Mr. Carleton was present, when it developed that he had not been in the room since the comencemtnt of the session. Upon receipt ofthis information the chairman suggested that the entire matter be continued until some future time, insisting that in all justice both sides were equally entitled to a hearing and that he should not have allowed the matter to be considered at this time if he had not been lead to understand that Mr. Carleton was present and prepard to proceed.

After a short conferrence with District Attorney Bullock, Mr. Ross agair urged that the board should act at this time and reject the applicat--ion upon the face of the provision of the law. This he believed to be the most expedicious means of arriving at a settlement of the matter. The saloon men would, he insisted, then be in a position to test the question of legality by means of mandamus proceedings and avoid the inconveniences resulting from criminal proceedings which they had suggested.

At this point Mr. Carleton entered the room, and when questioned by Chairman McEvoy stated that he had not been notified of the protest and was not prepared at this time to make his answer. He asked that the hearing be delayed. Upon the making of this statement Chairman McEvoy again insisted that a postponement should be allowed, in order that justice might be done to all. This demand, he said was not made because of any particular friendship for Carleton, or for that matter for any person engaged in that business, but as a matter of justice. As long as he held his present position he should insist that the board act toward all persons with equal fairness in public matters and that every man was entitled to an opportunity for a full hearing.

JJames T. O'Keefe, while stating that he appeared simply as a private citizen and represented no interest, argud that the present hearing savored more of a judicial than a legislative proceeding, and argued that the Board was without jurisdiction in the matter. He was nevertheless of the opinion that the Board had no authority to grant the license.

At the further suggestion of the Chairman that Mr. Carleton should be given an opportunity to prepare for a hearing and to be represented by counsel, Supervisor Francis moved that the hearing be continued until October 18th, the date of the next regular meeting. This motion received the second of Supervisor Blackburn and was carried by the unanimous vote of the Board.

By this time the noon hour had more than arrivedr and the board took a recess for lunch.

When the board reassembled at 1:30 all of the members were present, Supervisor Coleman having come in.

Otto Berlinger petitioned for permission to change the location of his saloon at San Bruno, and Dan McSweeney asked permission to move his saloon from Visitacion to Hillcrest.

Both applications were laid over until the next meeting on motion of Blackburn, seconded by Francis.

The United Gas and Electric company petitioned for permission to excavate Barriolhet avenue at San Mateo for the purpose of laying gas mains. Permission was granted on motion of Coleman.

A petition bearing over 500 signatures of taxpayers and voters of the county was presented asking that the Board submit to the voters the question of issuing bonds for the building and improvement of the roads of the county, and that a Board

Must Act With Caution.

As finally presented to the Board of Supervisors, the proposal for the issuance of bonds for the purpose of securing an improved system of highways for this county, bears on its face considerable evidence of business sagacity and genuine public spirit. That the development of the county has been seriously retarded by reason of its lack of good roads, no person familiar with its general conditions will question, and that there is serious need for improvement will be admitted. It is also equally apparent that with the present system permanent improvements are an utter impossibility. With the funds now at their disposal it is practically impossible for the Supervisors to do more tha make the absolutely necessary repairs.

Should the Supervisors acceed to the request, as it seems probable they will do, it is absolutely necessary that they should proceed with the utmost caution if the people are expected to approve of the issuance of the bonds. Especial care must be exercised in the selection of the commissioners who are to outline and supervise the work. As suggested by Chairman McEvoy, not only must the men selected have the full confidence of the people of the entire county, but they must be so situated as to be in a position to devote at least a very large portion of their time to the work. It is equally essential that various sections of the county, as well as the various interests should be represented.

The problem of modern road building is a serious one, present many yet unsolved difficulties. While there is no probability that the people of the county will consent to the incurring of an indebtedness for the purpose of building roads for the sole or special use of the automobile driver, it must be expected that to a greater or less extent these machines will use all public highways. For this reason all roads must be built of the most substantial character and capable of withstanding the unusual wear of these machines. That this may be assured, the members of this highway commission, must in addition to the other qualifications cited, have some considerable practical knowledge of the work before them. The selection of such a body of men is no small task, is certain, but if the project is to succeed this is the prime essential.

Make It An Elevated Road.

To the Editor of the Times-Gazette:

I read your editorial in last week's paper entitled "A Serious Question" and beg to suggest through the columns of your widely read journal, this solution of the automobile question—Let the Board of Supervisors offer for sale a franchise for an elevated road on both sides of the public highways of the county or cross lots if you like, also, for the exclusive use of automobiles, those going one way using the right hand structure always—allow the builder of the structure to charge a reasonable toll per mile traveled or proposed to be traveled by each automobile and collect his toll in advance, and give a ticket good for so many miles, and keep his structure in repair or be responsible for not doing so to anyone damaged thereby This at once gives the automobiles an exclusive right of way, solves the dust problem and obviates the necessity for issuing bonds to build good roads, as they can be built in the usual way. Then limit the speed of vehicles to 6 miles per hour in cities and towns and ten miles per hour out side of towns and see that the regulation is enforced under a heavy penalty. and the thing is done. Let the automobilel people organize an "Elevated Road Company" buy the franchise, build the structure and operate it and get the profits and benefits. There are no engineering or financial reasons why this scheme will not work, "Where there is a will there is a way" If there is a better one in any other man's brain, let him propose it through your columns at once.

"Pro Bono Publico"

P. S. The same thing can be done in every county and connections be made with each county structure.

Given Marriage Licenses.

Jacques H. Jackson, aged 22, and Alma M.Nieberding aged 21, both of Chicago.

C. Justin Smith, aged 31 and Leaphy E. Batchelove, aged 29,both of San Francisco.

The probation committee appointed last week by Judge Buck will meet at the Lawrence school house to organixe the juvenile court. Michael Sheehan is a candidate for probation officer. He has held the office of constable of San Mateo for several years and has proven himself a fearless and painstaking official. The court could select no better man for the position.

Estate Ready for Probate.

Ellen D. Morton has applied for letters of administration upon the estate of Ellen C. Morton, who died at San Mateo on March 14, 1909. The estate consists of real property, the value of which exceeds the sum of $10,000. The heirs at law are the petitioner, a daughter, and John D., C. B., and C. F. Morton, sons and John D. Morton, husband of deceased Mr Morton declines to serve as administrator.

Mrs. William Mahoney was here during the week. She is staying with her sister, Mrs. M. Carroll at Ravenswood and arsived last week from Pittsburg. She resided in Redwood City thirty years ago and was amazed at the progress made in this community it that lapse of time.

REMINISCENSES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

Gleanings From the Records Left By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

FROM THF RECORDS OF 1865

Pioneers Pay Tribute to Memory of Martyr President---County Jail Furnishes Mystery.

Almost the entire news space of the issue of the Gazette of April 22d, 1865, was devoted to the announcement of the particulars of the assassination of President Lincoln, and an account of the observances following that mournfully notable event in this city and county. The news of the assassination of the President was received in this city with every evidence of the feeling of national calamity and deep mourning which prevaded the entire country. On the day of the interment of tne remains of the Martyr President funeral services were held in this city with every evidence of public mourning. Flags were displayed at half mast, public and private buildings were draped with simbols of mourning, and public funeral services were held. These consisted of a funeral procession and services at the church. The procession formed ot 12 o'clock, in front of the Tremont House, on Main street, under the direction of Charles N. Fox, who acted as grand marshal, and was headed by the Jefferson Cavalry, under command of Captain S. H. Snyder, followed by the local lodges of Masons and Odd Fellows in regalia and the Redwood City Fire Company and citizens. Marching from there up Main and A streets, the procession proceeded to the church, where services were held. As a portion of the services at the church, addresses were made by Hon. T. G. Phelps, who, during his term in Congress had become a warm personal acquaintance of the murdered President, and C. N. Fox, followed by prayer by Rev. W. C. Bartlett, pastor of the Congregational Church. During the week resolutions expressive of the sentiment of public regret and mourning were adopted by the Masonic and Odd Fellows Lodges and by the fire company, all which were published in the Gazette, which for two issues apin deep mourning.

On the 17th of April there was laid with considerable public ceremony the corner stone of what was intended to be a building of considerable public importance. The intention of the parties engaged in the erection of the building was that it should be used solely as a place for the dissemination of useful knowledge, and its sole occupants were to be a public library and reading room and the publication office of the Gazette. That the promoters and the public were enthusiastic over the new enterprise is shown by the elaborateness of the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone, which consisted of an extended address by Hon. Horace Hawes and religious services under the direction of Rev. W. C. Bartlett, followed by singing by the children of the public schools. In addition to this an extensive list of articles were deposited in the box in the stone, among these being a full account of the assassination of President Lincoln and a chronological account of the rebellion from its commencement to the dispersion of the rebel government, the flight of Jeff Davis and the surrender of General Lee. With a catalogue of the articles deposited in the stone was the following inscription: "This edifice was founded on the 17th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1865. It is dedicated to Truth, Justice and the Public Good."

On the evening of April 17th the already somewhat unpleasantly notorious county jail again came into the limelight of public notoriety, although this time in a somewhat different and more mysterious phase of its history as a place unsuited for the safe confinement of the criminal element of the community. For a month previous to this date, three Chinamen, who had been arrested at Halfmoon Bay and held on charges of burglary, had been confined in the jail. Early in the evening the attention of some persons passing the jail was attracted by the cries of terror and appeals for assistance of one of these inmates, who was apparently in mortal agony. The Sheriff was notified as quickly as possible, and when he arrived at the place one of the Celestials was found stretched out on the floor of the jail in an unconscious and apparently seriously injured condition, and when a physician who had been hastily summoned arrived the man was found to be dead. Investigation disclosed the fact that the dead Chinaman was to have been used as one of the chief witnesses against the other two at the trial of the burglary charge. Examination disclosed the fact that the body was much bruised and gave unmistakable evidence of marks of severe violence. The next day a coroner's inquest was conducted by Justice of the Peace Durham, with the result that the jury charged the remaining Chinamen with murder in having beaten to death their comrade. The two men were held for this additional crime under the names of Hop Chung and Muck Sow. On the 17th of June the two Celestials were brought before Judge Dwinelle of the District Court for trial on the murder charges. As the prisoners made it plain to the court that they were impecunious and had no prospect of the chance of digging up even a retaining fee for an attorney, Andrew Teague was designated by the Court as an attorney upon whom must fall the task of making a legal defense of the accused murderers without other reward than the approval of a lawyer's conscience. Separate trials were demanded and granted for the prisoners; but in each case attorney Teague found it impossible to convince the jury that someone had broken into the jail and killed the Chinaman, and they were both promptly found guilty of murder in the first degree, and a few days later were sensentenced to be hanged, the date of the execution being fixed for Friday, August 18th. Evidently, however, the Chinks had become aware of the ease with which other prisoners had quitted the jail at their convenience, and did not propose to sit quietly awaiting the date when it should suit the convedience of the authorities that they should depart by way of the hangman's noose. On the 8th of July they quietly broke jail and departed for more healthful surroundings without the courtesy of bidding their host the Sheriff adieu. Nothing more was heard of the two murderers, although the magnificent reward of $100 was offered for their capture, and the public placidly resumed their condemnation of the flimsy structure, the feeling of disgust with the place being augmented by the fact that during the same week three other men, confined on charges of burglary, had made their escape. These latter three, however, were captured before they had wandered more than a mile from town.

SALOON LICENSES UP TO SUPERVISORS

of Highway Commissioners be appointed under the provisions of the Act of March 19, 1907.

Douglas S. Watson stated to the board that the signatures to the petition had been secured by himself. Mr. L. H. Newbert and a man employed by him. He personally had obtained 375 of the names. Mr. Watson said that the plan to improve the county's roads had its inception at a meeting of the Peninsula Promotion League held in Redwood City in May. He favored the building of roads through the county on both sides of the mountains, with connecting roads crossing the mountains. The wealthy taxpayers, Mr. Watson said, were in favor of the movement and would spend from $10,000 to $15,000 to carry the election.

Arguments following the presentation of this petition indicated a material change from the designs originally suggested by the published proceedings of the Promotion League. As presented by those in charge of this petition the plans are to include the building of a complete system of modern roads for the entire county, these to be of a character best fitted for general use, and planned so as to accommdoate the most people and best serve commercial interests as well as pleasures of the entire people. Short but enthusiastic talks were made by a number of taxpayers, including W. J. Martin, Judge Cunningham, Geo. C. Ross, Joseph Debenedeti, Harr Wagner, E. I. Woodman, W. T. Garret, Eric Lange and Supervisor Coleman. Mr. Martin especially urged that the commissionr named should consist of men who would consider all interests and sections of the county and comand the confidence of the entire people.

Chairman McEvoy asked that those present suggest to the board the names of persons suitable for members of the commission. These he insisted should be men who had not only the time to devote to the work, but fitted from a knowledge of the business of road building and personal energy to make the plan a success. The commissioners must be practically able to devote their time for many months to the good of the county. Among the names suggested were those of D. Broomfield, W. B. Laurence, P. D. Grant, Joseph Debenedetti,, Perry Eyre and Timothy Hopkins.

The general sentiment of the Supervisors was decidedly infavor of the bonding plan, it being conceded that it was impossible from lack of funds to secure permanent work under the present plan. The petition was filed and further action deferred until the next meeting when it is probable that the commission will bee named.

J. J. Bullock presented a map of the Johnson sub-division located at the rear of Wellesley Park and the same was accepted by resolution on motion of Coleman, seconded by Casey.

H. C. Tuchsen was authorized to renew the insurance on the county jail at $13,000.

A communication was read from D. D. Lorton & Company, of Burlingame asking for a portion of the courthouse insurance was accepted and filed.

A communication from L. E. Aubury asking that a county forester be appointed for the protection of the shade trees along the county highways, was accepted and filed.

A communication was presented from the O'Brien Construction Company asking for another extension of time in which to complete the construction of the new Courthouse under their contract. This occasioned something of a derisive smile among the members of the board, who appeared to look with but little favor upon the postponement of this work and the communication was filed without action.

The Board of Trade of Redwood City presented a communication recommending that the board have the dome of the courthouse raised twenty feet as suggested by the architect. Mr. Lovie representing the merchants, and E. I Woodman addressed the board briefly and favorably on the subject after which the communication was referred to the courthouse committee.

A communication was received from the representatives of Holy Cross and Cypress Lawn cemeteries asking that Colma creek be deepened so as to carry off the winter floods which interfere with travel in that vicinity. The matter was referred to Supervisor Casey.

A petition signed by a number of residents in the Fifth township was presented asking that the board take steps to condemn a right of way for a road between the lands of Packard and Palmer and through the lands of Mrs. Driver at San Gregorio from the main county road to the beach.

George C. Ross stated that Mr. Packard and Mrs. Driver had offered a right of way through their property free of charge.

Supervisor Blackburn favored the right of way mentioned in the petition as the road was already built and in good condition.

Attorney Kincaid spoke on behalf of the petitioners.

The chairman doubted if a suit to condemn could be maintained when it is shown that a free right of way has been offered.

The petition was accepted on motion of Blackburn, seconded by Casey, and will be acted upon later.

The matter of closing a certain road at Granada in the Fourth township was laid over until the next meeting.

The matter of receiving bids for building what is known as the "Yankee Jim" bridge in the Fifth township was postponed until the next meeting and the clerk was directed to renew the notice to contractors.

Supervisor Casey presented plans for a reinforced storm sewer on Collins avenue and the main county road at Colma, estimated to cost $1830. The same was accepted and the clerk directed to publish a notice calling for bids to do the work.

A dispute between Samuel Lavenberg and Christian Stader regarding certain roads at Beresford was referred to Coleman for adjustment.

All matters postponed from previous meetings were again laid over until the next session.

Chairman McEvoy asked that J. H. Bell be appointed to superintend the construction of the concrete bridge across the Coon creek at a payment of $3 per day, and the appointment was made on motion of Blackburn seconded by Coleman.

Architect Allen recommended that a special meeting be held to consider certain matters relative to the courthouse and it was decided to meet Tuesday, October 5, at 1 o'clock for that purpose.

All the actors have distinguished themselves on other occasions, either in Pescadero or in their former homes and as the play itself is considered by many to be one of the very best and funniest that can be presented by amateur actors the audience will certainly get a large return for their money in the shape of firstclass entertainment and fun next Friday evening. Everybody is going.

Scenically suburb is the production of King Lear, which is to be presented in this city next Saturday evening under the personal direction of Mr. Millidge Sherwood, whose recent success in the field of legitimate productions has made him a master of the art. In the person of Mr. Sherwood, one of the most interesting and promising young players; the theatre patrons of this city will find a Lear who is worthy of their every delight and consideration. His forceful characterization of this exacting role is a treat and the press and the public have united in proclaiming him evenly balanced and, safe to say, one of the most finished players of the age The supporting company in the attraction will be one of the best to be seen here this season.

"King Lear" at the Alhambra.

The Recognition Scene.

The theater goers of Redwood City will contemplate with genuine pleasure the engagement of Hillidge Sherwood and his splendid company in "King Lear," Shakespear's grand tragedy. The attraction is one worthy the attention of the most critical playgoer. There is nothing tawdry or cheap about the production or the cast. It is unquestionably one of the most elaborately staged productions of the year, and the cast, even to the most unimportant role, has been selected with the utmost care. With a car load of special scenery, King Lear will be presented at the Alhambra this Saturday evening.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS RAILWAY TROUBLES

IMPROVEMENTS ARE PROMISED

Street Crossings Are to be Given Additional Safeguards—Hourly Train Service Probable.

A very considerable portion of the time of the session of the City Council Monday evening was devoted to conferrence with Superintendent Ahearn of the coast division of the Southern Pacific Railway, who was present for the purpose of consulting with the Trustees in reference to a number of questions which have been at issue between the Railway Company and the city officials for some months past. At the suggestion of Chairman Merrill, Mr. Ahearn took a seat at the council table and a heart to heart talk followed, resulting, after the making of a few minor concession, in the assurance that within a short time every request of the city would be complied with.

After Street Superintendent Dickey had explained the necessity for providsome means of relief from the storm floods in the vicinity of Chestnut street Mr. Ahern promptly promised that a 12-inch culvert should be constructed at this point.

The next matter taken up was the unsatisfactory condition of a number of the street crossings. It was explained that this was largely due to the jolting of the tracks by the heavy trains, and Mr. Ahearn informed the Board that it was the intention of the Company within a short time to replace the present rails with those of a heavier pattern. In the mean time temporary repairs will be made.

Considerable time was devoted to the discussion of the questions of speed limits and the protection of crossings. Mr. Ahern suggested that trains should not be limited to a speed of less than 30 miles an hour, as the length of the line through the city—fully two miles—made it imperative to maintain this speed in order to give a service acceptable to the residents of other portions of the Peninsula. The Trustees recognized the force of this suggestion and made no objection to this speed, provided the necessary precautions for the safety of the public were provided. Chairman Merrill suggested that the argument of Mr. Ahearn demonstrated the necessity for the erection of at least six additional street gates. Mr. Ahearn objected to this large number, urging the heavy cost of their operation, and urged that in many cases alarm bells would serve every needed purpose. It was finally agreed that as soon as possible three additional gates should be erected, supplemented by alarm bells at other points.

The need of more frequent train service, especially in the evening, was strongly urged upon Mr. Ahearn, who admitted the increasing demand and expressed the opinion that within a very short time there would be at least an hourly service throughout the entire day. He asked that changes especially desired be suggested, stating that these would be considered in preparing the next train schedule.

H. C. Tuchsen presented a map showing the land proposed to be dedicated for the new reservoir, the tract comprising about four acres. This met the approval of the Trustees. Mr. Rice stated that the reservoir would be completed before the end of the month.

It was announced that the new city maps had been received from the printer. Citizens desiring a copy may obtain one without cost by applying to Clerk Plump.

The application of George Donnely for a saloon license at the Tremont House was rejected on recommendation of the committee on public morals, who reported that they did not believe him to be the actual owner of the place.

The Clerk was authorized to invite bids for 6000 feet of 4-inch and 1000 feet of 6-inch water pipe, with necessary fittings.

The United Gas & Electric Co. are to be called upon to explain the reason for the frequent failure of street lights to burn.

The Street Superintendent was authorized to roll Roosevelt avenue.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Redwood City People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Redwood City cures are the proof.

Fred Haussler, 101 Stambaugh st., Redwood City, Cal., says: Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly worthy of the highest praise. My kidneys did not seem to act properly and the secretions were very unnatural. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a box at P. A Ryan's drug store. The results of their use were most satisfactory. I advise anyone suffering from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
